

After the campaign the democrats will ring the doleful strains:
Of all words of tongue or pen,
The saddest of these, it might have been.

Because Dakota is a republican territory and that its republican majority is likely to increase, the democrats keep it knocking at the door of congress.

When subscriptions were being taken for Lombardelli's widow, Patti, who receives $4,000 a night, gave $150, and Gerser, who gets $1,000 a night, gave $1,000.

The old performance of the tail wagging the dog, will be given by the democratic party this fall. It is an old trick, but one which can be well performed by the party.

It is announced by the Chicago Advance that Miss Frances E. Willard will retire from the lecture field after ten years of continuous work. She will devote herself to the care of her aged mother, and to literary work. A few outstanding engagements, however remain to be filled.

Music is the greatest drawing power in the world to-day. There is no person living who can attract the audience that Patti can, nor command a like price for services. Rubinstein gave five concerts in Vienna a short time ago, and cleared $25,000. There never was a time in the history of music, when music was so thoroughly a king as now.

Coming to the front in the cause of temperance the Christian Union, of New York, makes a comparative showing of the liquor traffic with that in real necessities. In the United States there is annually spent $500,000,000 for liquor, $500,000,000 for bread, $300,000,000 for meat, $200,000,000 for iron and steel, $237,000,000 for saved lumber, $210,000,000 for cotton goods, $196,000,000 for boots and shoes, $155,000,000 for sugar and molasses, and $85,000,000 for public education.

The congressional library in Washington is the most extensive collection of books in the United States. It now numbers 218,000 volumes of books, 170,000 pamphlets, 400,000 musical publications, 9,000 maps, and about 800,000 engravings. About 8,000 volumes of law books are annually added to the library, and in all 30,000 volumes are added to it each year. Under the present law publishers furnish the library with two copies of each work for which a copyright has been issued. The space now allowed for the library will not accommodate about half the present number of books, while its rapid growth only adds to the embarrassment each year. The proposed new library building, on a gigantic scale, has become a crying necessity.

The bonded whisky bill was defeated in the house of representatives by a vote of 185 to 93, which will settle the matter for some time. The motion was to strike out the existing clause of the bill, and the political analysis of the vote shows the following result. Yes—democrats 95; republicans, 88; independents, 2. No—democrats, 69; republicans, 13; independent, 1. It will be seen that it was in no sense a party measure, and that more democrats than republicans voted to kill the bill by striking out the existing clause. The whisky manufacturers have had the bonded period extended by congress before, and it is said that instead of suspending the manufacture of spirits until the demand should correspond with the supply, they kept on distilling and trusted to the generosity of congress to again extend the bonded period.

It is reported that a woman claims the honor of disclosing to the world the new gold fields known as the Comstock mine in far-off Idaho. Mrs. Edgerton has a hotel in Butte City, M. T., and supplied an outfit for the prospector who found the new gold region which has excited the whole west. Speculators and miners are rushing thither from all points, and a city of 30,000 persons it is believed will be planted in the camp this spring. The mine is the owner of some of the most valuable claims. General James S. Brisson, of Montana, advises against a rush to the new El Dorado until more facts concerning it are known concerning the prospects for gold. The snow has been too deep this winter for much prospecting, so that very little development has been made during the past winter.

The democratic caucus in Washington, did certain things which leads the Philadelphia Times to toll down the resolutions into six brief ones:

1. That the democratic house shall take up and consider the Morrison bill.
2. That a tariff bill shall be passed if it doesn't get killed.
3. That everybody who don't like the Morrison bill, or any other bill offered, shall vote just as they please.
4. That in order to reconcile conflicting opinions, any tariff or internal revenue taxes may be reduced or abolished except on whisky.
5. Whisky rings are sacred in democracy, and whisky must be let alone, if every other industry shall perish.
6. There can be perfect harmony in the democracy by accepting free trade and abolishing all factories and monopolies except distilleries.

Cincinnati was the scene of intensely wild Friday night which ended in bloodshed. The Gazette has already mentioned the fact that William Durner confessed to the murder and robbery of one Kirk, and in the face of such a confession the jury found him guilty of murder only in the second degree! There was popular indignation over such an outrageous verdict, and two thousand citizens attempted to attack the jail for the purpose of hanging the murderer. The militia was called out and kept the mob from getting into the prisoner's cell, and during the reign of fury and excitement that knew no bounds, Kirk was released from his cell by the sheriff, and made his escape. This is the consequence of law that is not properly administered, and of justice that is mocked and insulted.

DEATH OF A PRINCE.

Leopold, Youngest Son of Victoria, Gathered to His Fathers.

What Is Said of the Dead Man—His First Defeat in the House of Commons.

LONDON, March 29.—Prince Leopold, Duke of Albany, fourth and youngest son of Queen Victoria, died suddenly at 2 o'clock a. m. at the effects of a fall at the Corne Natatorium. The extreme suddenness of the death of the duke of Albany is the special element in the sad news which caused the most shock and sympathy. He was thought to be doing splendidly at Cannes, and his own belief was that he was thoroughly restored to health. Acting upon this impression he attended the luncheon, and another similar affair, remaining until long after midnight on each occasion, and dancing frequently. At the ball the duke's own wife, "Patsy," which he coupled with and put the last December, occupied a prominent place in the order of dancing. Within a few hours after his return from this ball, and just as he was preparing to engage in the other scenes of festivity attending his wife's marriage, he was stricken down by a fit, and died without a moment of consciousness from the time of the attack. The news of her bereavement has fallen with crushing force upon his young widow, who is at Claremont palace, at Surrey, and who expects soon to become a mother, although her only child is an infant but little more than a year old. The duke of Albany was undoubtedly the most respected among the plain people of all the queen's sons, owing to his ready sympathy with the masses. His occasional appearance as an author and a composer also served to draw him nearer to the people, and has led to the remark which has been common enough within the last few years, that he was the only one of the royal dukes who had any brains. The queen has been affected by the death of her favorite son, but an incident which occurred at Cannes, and which has been much unfavorably commented upon, has been a public sign of how she has been affected by the death of her favorite son, but an incident which occurred at Cannes, and which has been much unfavorably commented upon, has been a public sign of how she has been affected by the death of her favorite son, but an incident which occurred at Cannes, and which has been much unfavorably commented upon, has been a public sign of how she has been affected by the death of her favorite son.

MILWAUKEE.
We give below a facsimile of a letter received from the commission house of Brown, Wood & Kingman, agents for the sale of Redfurn Cigars, which we have been offering and selling to the public at 5 cents per yard. This publication is made to show our customers that we are doing just what we say—selling goods very cheap. But as we do not wish to injure the retail jobbing trade of Milwaukee and the Northwest, we shall be obliged to advance the price of Redfurn Cigars to 10 cents; but as they have been so extensively advertised, we feel that we cannot advance the price till after Saturday, March 29. From that date the price will be 10 cents per yard.
We think, however, that it is rather queer that the commission houses of the east should request us to hold an umbrella over the heads of the jobbers of Milwaukee and the Northwest.

Messrs. T. A. Chapman & Co., Milwaukee, Wis.
Dear Sirs:—
We have had a number of complaints within the last twenty-four hours regarding your advertised price of new styles Redfurn Cigars at 8 cents. We respectfully remind you that these goods are sold to jobbers at 10 cents per yard, less 2 cents, with a conditional bonus of 5 per cent, providing the goods are not jobbed under 9 cents. The nature of retail price, of course, is something with which we have nothing to do, but as you lay the goods by the package of some price to jobbers, presume for selection you will be willing to sell the goods at 10 cents per yard, less 2 cents, and we will enclose you some samples sent from your stock, and respectfully request that you put the price in 10 cents. We do not wish to interfere with your business, but feel sure that you will readily appreciate the unpleasant position your advertisement has put you in, and the loss of the goods and the loss of the money. We would much prefer you to withdraw the goods and hold them to your order. Your advertisement has evidently had a wide circulation. We are sure that you will be with the Redfurn Cigars, and we want you to keep them; and if you will give this matter the personal attention you will place as your personal obligation.
Yours respectfully,
BROWN, WOOD & KINGMAN.

THE MOB LET LOOSE.
Culmination of the Excitement Over the Berner Trial.
Immense Indignation Meeting at the Cincinnati Music Hall.
The Speakers Denounce the Jury in Unmeasured Terms.
And Raise a Spirit That Demands Immediate Vengeance.
The City in the Hands of a Mob—Militia Called Out—The Jail Attacked—A Deadly Fusillade—Bloody Work Expected.
CINCINNATI, March 29.—William Berner has been sentenced to the penitentiary for twenty years, and to pay the costs of the prosecution. This is the extreme penalty of the law for manslaughter. Berner was indicted for murder in the first degree, for killing William H. Kirk, Dec. 24, 1883, but escaped through the stupidity of the jury. The outrageous verdict rendered last Monday by these jurymen, caused intense excitement, and a call for a mass meeting of our citizens in the Music Hall signed by prominent business men brought out an immense crowd, which literally packed the house until there was not even standing room. Among those who addressed the meeting were Judge Carter and ex-Lieutenant Governor Hickok. The speakers denounced the jury in unmeasured terms, and referred to the fact that there are upwards of forty murderers in the county jail awaiting trial. The crowd was greatly worked up and made all sorts of outcries and demonstrations. After the meeting was over, a surging, howling mob started at once for the jail, where they forced an entrance, and are now trying to batter down the doors. A general riot alarm has been sounded, calling out the entire police and patrol service of the city, leaving the rest of the city practically unguarded against the depredations of thieves. It is reported at this hour (midnight) that the mob have gained an entrance, and that one man has been shot, but owing to the intense confusion the report cannot be substantiated. It is rumored that Berner escaped from the custody of the officers at Loveland while on his way to the penitentiary at Columbus. If this is true, he is caught by the mob, and he is caught by the mob, and he is caught by the mob. The situation is such that no one can predict what will be the result of this unfortunate affair.
LATER.—Five persons were shot in the jail yard. They were taken away in patrol wagons. It is impossible to learn their names or the extent of their injuries. Two or three policemen were struck with bullets. The mob has now fired the jail.
The Later Reports.
CINCINNATI, March 29.—At 9:40 the riot alarm was sounded, summoning the entire police and patrol service of the city, leaving the rest of the city practically unguarded against the depredations of thieves. The police, upon arriving in the vicinity of the jail, commanded the crowd to move. Not being obeyed they fired, but as no one was hurt it was presumed that they fired into the air. It is said that the intention of the police, being deeply in sympathy with the movement to condemn the outrageous Berner verdict. A shot or two were fired from the jail, but the crowd refused to move. They have now broken down and are still at work at the jail door.
IN THE JAIL.
At 11 p. m. the report from the jail is that the crowd has got inside. They had previously broken into a locksmith-shop and had taken all the tools they could find. There is difficulty in getting information about the movements, because the streets all around the court house and jail are jammed. A reporter says that at 11 p. m. from the east wall of the jail, he saw a great crowd of men inside the jail, but they had not yet reached the cell-room. They were well supplied with tools, which would be easy.
THE MILITIA ORDERED OUT.
There is apparently no resistance to the mob, and on the other hand no violence has been offered to persons by the mob, except that Adam Morgan, one of the policemen in a patrol-wagon, was struck with a brick and slightly hurt. This act is condemned by the mob and now the patrol-wagons are standing in front of the jail surrounded by people. The militia have been ordered out, but large numbers failed to appear, and there is a general disposition, so far as can be seen, not to interfere with the mob. Nothing is yet heard from Sheriff Hawkins, who is inside the court house and cannot be reached. Mayor Stephens is confined to his house by sickness, leaving the sheriff wholly responsible for the preservation of order, except for the assistance of the chief of police.
The Mob Battering Away.
LATER.—At midnight the mob was still battering away at the jail, having beaten down two doors and prying at the third, which would give them access to the cell. The mob also secured two ladders from Kautsky, and worked systematically and earnestly, with every prospect that they will carry their purpose before they desist.
A down side run with the mob as a battery, and they are now battering away at the jail door and are now battering away at the jail door and are now battering away at the jail door.
BERNER GONE.
The mob found Berner was gone. They tried to find the barbers, and tried to batter down the cell door of one of them. By this time the police were thick about the jail, and got possession of the inside of the jail and restored order in a slight degree, but they did not dare to make any arrests. The mob would not allow it. They filled the house and roomed about undisturbed, seeking some lawless criminal on whom to wreak vengeance. There was shooting, but up to this time only from the mob firing in the air.
Meantime Berner had been taken to Loveland, twenty-five miles away, in charge of a deputy. While waiting for the arrival of Joe Moses, the criminal baiter, he had escaped. Nothing further is definitely known at midnight.
At 12 o'clock it is reported that the mob had set fire to the jail.
The first regiment of the Ohio national guards were drilling in their armory, a couple of squares away from the jail. Sheriff Hawkins brought over a detachment, and introduced them into the jail through the cellar. The mob filled the corridor. They were ordered to withdraw, but refused, and the militia.

THE MILITIA ORDERED OUT.
There is apparently no resistance to the mob, and on the other hand no violence has been offered to persons by the mob, except that Adam Morgan, one of the policemen in a patrol-wagon, was struck with a brick and slightly hurt. This act is condemned by the mob and now the patrol-wagons are standing in front of the jail surrounded by people. The militia have been ordered out, but large numbers failed to appear, and there is a general disposition, so far as can be seen, not to interfere with the mob. Nothing is yet heard from Sheriff Hawkins, who is inside the court house and cannot be reached. Mayor Stephens is confined to his house by sickness, leaving the sheriff wholly responsible for the preservation of order, except for the assistance of the chief of police.
The Mob Battering Away.
LATER.—At midnight the mob was still battering away at the jail, having beaten down two doors and prying at the third, which would give them access to the cell. The mob also secured two ladders from Kautsky, and worked systematically and earnestly, with every prospect that they will carry their purpose before they desist.
A down side run with the mob as a battery, and they are now battering away at the jail door and are now battering away at the jail door.
BERNER GONE.
The mob found Berner was gone. They tried to find the barbers, and tried to batter down the cell door of one of them. By this time the police were thick about the jail, and got possession of the inside of the jail and restored order in a slight degree, but they did not dare to make any arrests. The mob would not allow it. They filled the house and roomed about undisturbed, seeking some lawless criminal on whom to wreak vengeance. There was shooting, but up to this time only from the mob firing in the air.
Meantime Berner had been taken to Loveland, twenty-five miles away, in charge of a deputy. While waiting for the arrival of Joe Moses, the criminal baiter, he had escaped. Nothing further is definitely known at midnight.
At 12 o'clock it is reported that the mob had set fire to the jail.
The first regiment of the Ohio national guards were drilling in their armory, a couple of squares away from the jail. Sheriff Hawkins brought over a detachment, and introduced them into the jail through the cellar. The mob filled the corridor. They were ordered to withdraw, but refused, and the militia.

THE MOB LET LOOSE.
Culmination of the Excitement Over the Berner Trial.
Immense Indignation Meeting at the Cincinnati Music Hall.
The Speakers Denounce the Jury in Unmeasured Terms.
And Raise a Spirit That Demands Immediate Vengeance.
The City in the Hands of a Mob—Militia Called Out—The Jail Attacked—A Deadly Fusillade—Bloody Work Expected.
CINCINNATI, March 29.—William Berner has been sentenced to the penitentiary for twenty years, and to pay the costs of the prosecution. This is the extreme penalty of the law for manslaughter. Berner was indicted for murder in the first degree, for killing William H. Kirk, Dec. 24, 1883, but escaped through the stupidity of the jury. The outrageous verdict rendered last Monday by these jurymen, caused intense excitement, and a call for a mass meeting of our citizens in the Music Hall signed by prominent business men brought out an immense crowd, which literally packed the house until there was not even standing room. Among those who addressed the meeting were Judge Carter and ex-Lieutenant Governor Hickok. The speakers denounced the jury in unmeasured terms, and referred to the fact that there are upwards of forty murderers in the county jail awaiting trial. The crowd was greatly worked up and made all sorts of outcries and demonstrations. After the meeting was over, a surging, howling mob started at once for the jail, where they forced an entrance, and are now trying to batter down the doors. A general riot alarm has been sounded, calling out the entire police and patrol service of the city, leaving the rest of the city practically unguarded against the depredations of thieves. It is reported at this hour (midnight) that the mob have gained an entrance, and that one man has been shot, but owing to the intense confusion the report cannot be substantiated. It is rumored that Berner escaped from the custody of the officers at Loveland while on his way to the penitentiary at Columbus. If this is true, he is caught by the mob, and he is caught by the mob, and he is caught by the mob. The situation is such that no one can predict what will be the result of this unfortunate affair.
LATER.—Five persons were shot in the jail yard. They were taken away in patrol wagons. It is impossible to learn their names or the extent of their injuries. Two or three policemen were struck with bullets. The mob has now fired the jail.
The Later Reports.
CINCINNATI, March 29.—At 9:40 the riot alarm was sounded, summoning the entire police and patrol service of the city, leaving the rest of the city practically unguarded against the depredations of thieves. The police, upon arriving in the vicinity of the jail, commanded the crowd to move. Not being obeyed they fired, but as no one was hurt it was presumed that they fired into the air. It is said that the intention of the police, being deeply in sympathy with the movement to condemn the outrageous Berner verdict. A shot or two were fired from the jail, but the crowd refused to move. They have now broken down and are still at work at the jail door.
IN THE JAIL.
At 11 p. m. the report from the jail is that the crowd has got inside. They had previously broken into a locksmith-shop and had taken all the tools they could find. There is difficulty in getting information about the movements, because the streets all around the court house and jail are jammed. A reporter says that at 11 p. m. from the east wall of the jail, he saw a great crowd of men inside the jail, but they had not yet reached the cell-room. They were well supplied with tools, which would be easy.
